THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED GENESIS

CHAPTER I
In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. And God saw that the light was good: and God divided the light from the darkness. And God called the light Day, and the darkness Night. And there was evening, and there was morning, the first day.

And God said, Let there be a firmament of the heaven upon the earth: and it was so. And God called the firmament Heaven. And there was evening, and there was morning, the second day.

And God said, Let the waters under the firmament be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so. And God called the dry land Earth, and the gathering together of the waters Seas. And there was evening, and there was morning, the third day.

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, and herb yielding seed, and the tree bearing fruit, which shall bear fruit after his kind: and it was so. And God called the grass and herb yielding seed, and the trees bearing fruit, which shall bear fruit after their kind, the vegetation of the earth. And there was evening, and there was morning, the fourth day.

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years: and let the lights be in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was so. And God called the lights the Sun, and the Moon, and the stars. And there was evening, and there was morning, the fifth day.

And God said, Let the waters bring forth the living creature, and the fowl that may fly above the earth, and the beast that is of the earth, and the creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth: and it was so. And God created the great whales, and every living creature that creepeth, and every beast that is of the earth, and every fowl that may fly, according to their kind. And there was evening, and there was morning, the sixth day.

And God finished his work which he had made: and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which he had created and made.

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the multitude of the waters, and the fowl of the air, and the beasts of the earth, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, were created. And the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord God.

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the beasts of the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. And God created man in his own image, after his likeness: male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living creature that creepeth upon the earth. And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which I have created, unto you for food: and to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, which I have created, I have given them. And unto the man he said, Of every herb bearing seed, which I have created, shall ye eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, ye shall not eat thereof: for in the day that ye eat thereof, ye shall surely die. And God said, Behold, I have given you the land, and I have given you every herb bearing seed, which I have created, unto you for food: and to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, which I have created, I have given them. And unto the man he said, Of every herb bearing seed, which I have created, shall ye eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, ye shall not eat thereof: for in the day that ye eat thereof, ye shall surely die.
